Blood Donation Camp at College Campus

Activity	Blood Donation Camp at College campus
Date	17.09.2019
Place	College campus
No of participants	81
Academic Year	2019-20

Blood transports not only oxygen also supply nutrients to the lungs and tissues. Blood is essentially required for life-saving treatment to the patients suffering from life-threatening diseases, such as cancer, chronic illnesses, severe traumas, internal bleeding and organ damages. In order to make this life-saving treatment possible, voluntary blood donors are needed.

Therefore, blood is always necessary to save many lives. In view of this, on 17.09.2019, the NSS unit of Vignan's Lara Institute of Technology and Science in association with needs Blood Bank, Guntur has organized a blood donation campaign in campus. "An adequate amount of blood is necessary for meeting all the body functions. The blood transfusion during the time of accidents and while facing trauma saves millions of lives every year addressed by the Principal. Blood donation is a simple solution for the great cause." Nearly 16 faculty and 81 students donated blood in the camp. The NSS Unit distributed fruits to all the donors.
